“ANGELS AND SAINTS”

The Metropolitan Master Chorale Debuts

Los Angeles, CA, November 9, 2009 – They nurture. They inspire. They bring joy and sustain us through art and faith and kindness. Join the Metropolitan Master Chorale as they celebrate through song the angels and saints among us.

The Metropolitan Master Chorale will kick off their inaugural season with two presentations of their “Angels and Saints” holiday program.

Saturday, December 5, 2009

Los Angeles Valley College Recital Hall
5800 Fulton Ave.
Valley Glen, CA 91401

Sunday, December 13, 2009

Hollywood United Methodist Church
6817 Franklin Ave.
Los Angeles, CA 90028

The Chorale will be performing music spanning six centuries and four languages – from the luminescent music of Renaissance composers (Thomas Weelkes, Giovanni Palestrina), to Baroque masters (J.S. Bach, Johann Michael Haydn) and new twenty-first century compositions that present a creative perspective on the angel of modern times. Fresh arrangements of contemporary Hannukah and Christmas classics will round out the program, infusing the harmonic language and rhythm of music written for film and jazz.

Tickets are $20.00 in advance ($25.00 at the door) for general admission and $15.00 in advance ($20.00 at the door) for students/children/seniors/disabled. Tickets can be purchased online at www.metrosings.org or via phone at 323.342.2263.
